The Town Schools.

The School Board believe they may assure the citizens that the high standard of teaching, of lat· years required in our schools, has been maintained the past year.

Seventeen pupils were graduated from the Grammar School course: eight at Conway, five at North Conway, two at Conway Center, and two at South Conway. Their names follow:

CONWAY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

William S Abbott, Samuel T. Bickford, Raymond Merrill, Cora E. Lord, Lila Head, Beulah H. Berry, Bertha M. Kelley, Emma M. Perkins.

NORTH CONWAY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Kenneth Lloyd Riley, Esther Hill, Isabel Eastman, Irena Eastman, Arvesta Tibbetts.

CONWAY CENTER GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Harry E. Thoits, Celia Mudgett.

SOUTH CONWAY SCHOOL.

Carol Pendexter Wakefield, Ida Susan French.

A number of these pupils are pursuing higher courses of study in other places (Peabody and Malden, Massachusetts, South Portland, Maine, The Robinson Female Seminary, at Exeter, and at Brewster Free Academy), and all have been able to take high place and rank, proving the thoroughness of their preparation in the Conway schools.

Conway provides for its school-houses being kept in first rate condition, and it is not a hopeful sign—hopeful for the future well-being of the town—that our best school-house, the one that cost by far the most money, should be so abominably treated by the scholars, as the one in Number 8 has been It would seem as if it were an old, ramshackle building, that the scholars despised, instead of one so handsome that it would be an ornament to any city, and in which they ought to feel pride and of which they should take the greatest care.

It is too much to ask of a teacher, that he should be a detective as well, able always to identify the offender and inflict punishment where it belongs for such offences. The fault is primarily with the parents. What has become of the New England doctrine that property (private or public) is sacred? that wilful destruction of property (private or public) is a crime? It seems incredible that all moral heads of families do not teach their children as to the evil and sin of shiftlessness and destructiveness in the care and handling of what has cost time, money, and thought, whether to some member of their own family or acquaintance, or that vague owner the public. That modern requirement in schools, the teaching of good citizenship or Civil Government, as it is called, is most desirable, but the elementary principles, respect for the rights of private property and the sacredness of public property, must be taught at home if it is taught at all.

However, there is always much public spirit and active interest manifested in the prosperity of the schools. Through the generous efforts of the Ladies' Educational League and citizens of North Conway, two and three weeks were added to the winter terms of the grammar, intermediate and primary schools respectively. At Redstone, the school-house was furnished with lamps, from the proceeds of an entertainment given by the scholars; and two globes (costing thirty dollars) were bought for the Conway school-house, also by entertainments given by the scholars. The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip have furnished an unoccupied room in the Conway school-house, for the privilege of the use of it for their meetings, the furniture and room to be under the control of the school. Mrs. H. B. Fifield has given a portrait of Longfellow, and Ernest Fifield a portrait of Washington to the Conway grammar school, and Martha Fifield has presented a historical picture, "Washington Resigning His Commission," to the Conway intermediate school.

Music is coming more and more to be considered a requirement of the town schools, and in some sections of the town singing is as much a part of the regular morning exercises as is the reading of the Holy Scriptures. In the West Side school this was inaugurated long ago, and during the last year it has been made the custom for the three schools in the Conway Village school-house to sing together in the morning. The schools mentioned both have school organs, and not long ago the West Side scholars gave a public entertainment, devoting the proceeds to the purchase of singing books for the school. A citizen of Conway Corner recently told the School Board that his children, who can now sing very prettily, would in all probability have never sung a note if it had not been for the instruction they received in school.

The State Teachers' Institute held at Conway on the third of January was a great success, a source of inspiration and stimulus to the teachers present. All the Conway teachers (with one exception) were there, and the general attendance was large. Superintendent Folsom pronounced it one of the best Institutes that has been holden under his auspices in the State, this winter. The Conway Woman's Club were graciously hospitable, entertaining the visiting teachers at their homes and contributing much towards making the occasion a delightful one for them.

Most of the School Readers have been exchanged for new ones this year and in order to secure greater variety and interest for the pupils, a new plan has been tried: that of having the books of different compilers and publishers in the three school sections and having them used by each section in turn, changing as the reading matter becomes uninteresting from too long repetition. At North Conway the Baldwin's Readers are used, and the Cyr's at Conway. In the Conway Center section. the books have not yet been changed but probably will be for use at the spring term.

Attendnce at the schools has been far below what it should have been. The final appeal is always to the parents, usually to the mothers; with them the matter lies. Often for slight needs or insignificant pleasures, pupils are kept out of school to their great loss. And those losses cannot be made up. Bitter regret for wasted opportunities is likely to be the pupil's, in the future, and one would think the parents must sometimes feel that they had failed in their duty to their children.

We have tried to expend the school money with careful economy. It was decided to be absolutely necessary to hire a man to take care of the furnace in Number 8 school-house during the winter term. The heating arrangements are decidedly unsatisfactory there, and before long some change in that particular will have become a necessity. We have been able to provide twenty-nine weeks of school this year—there should really be thirty-six weeks, or certainly more than thirty.

We ask the appropriatien of $2200 for the support of schools next year.

Of the $300 raised for repairs of school-houses last year, $95 were spent for painting the outside of No. 8 school-house, and $100 for putting Green Hill school-house in thorough good shape. The balance was paid for smaller bills and repairs at various school-houses, as the financial report will show. Next year the Conway Corner school-house should be painted (on the outside), and slate blackboards are needed at Conway and East Conway to replace the old ones made by painting a black space on the plastering. The inside of the East Conway school-house should have a fresh coat of paint, there should be a new chimney at the South Conway school-house, and the interior freshened by paint or whitewash. Those are the greatest wants, but slate blackboards are expensive, as is well known, and there are always the miscellaneous repairs.

We recommend that the sum of $300 be raised for repairs on school-houses.

We recommend that $75 be raised for water tax and insurance on school buildings.

Vaccination for school children is now compulsory. Both the Town Board of Health and the State Board insist upon the enforcement of the law: Section 2, Chapter 93 of the Public Statutes of New Hampshire reads: "No child shall attend any public school unless he has been vaccinated, or has had the smallpox." Certificates of vaccination from all pupils will be asked for by the teachers, at the beginning of the spring term. Most of them have already been vaccinated, and will parents and guardians see to it that those who have not, shall be in time for the opening of next term of school.

In 1899, when Mrs. Helen Bigelow Merriman provided two terms of High School at North Conway, the Ladies' Educational League furnished a room in No. 8 school-house with seats, desks and blackboards foi the High School's use: since then, the room has been used by the grammar school whenever it was needed, and now it seems no more than fair that the town should buy the furniture of the League. The price set, one hundred dollars, is considerably less than the cost, and no account is made of carpenters' bills for setting the desks and blackboards. The blackboards are a gift to No. 8 school from the League.

We would recommend that the use of the check-list be discontinued in our Annual Meetings. The School Board would not regret the four days sessions in revising the lists did they they feel it was of any value. The result, however, is this: people do not come to see that their names are on the list, thinking that the Town check-list is sufficient. On the day of School Meeting they are disappointed in not finding their names. At the opening of the meeting, nearly the first vote is to dispense with the check-list. In view of these facts, it seems a great waste to spend so much time and money in the (supposed) preparation of the lists.

One member of the School Board is to be elected, Mr. Fifield's term of three years expiring at this meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

H. BOARDMAN FIFIELD,
ABBIE M. D. BLOUIN,
ELLEN MASON.

C. W. WILDER, Treasurer Board of Trustees.

We, the undersigned, committee of the board of trustees, having examined th · foregoing accounts of the treasurer, find proper vouchers for all items of expenditure and do hereby approve the same.

A. C. KENNETT,
J. B. NASH,
A. D. DAVIS.

The trustees desire to call the attention of the town to the donations received, also to a bequest made by the late George H. Thom.

The gift of W. W. Eastman of Minneapolis, Minn., of one hundred dollars was given for the purchase of books, and it has been expended for that purpose.

The bequest of one hundred dollars made by George H. Thom, was made to the town of Conway for the benefit of its Public Library. This money is still in the hands of the trustees. It seemed to them advisable that the town have the opportunity to act upon this matter, and direct its use, or its investment, for the purpose named in the bequest

Other donations have been made of books, periodicals, and papers The Conway Village Library Association their entire library consisting of about one thousand volumes; the Woman's Club of Conway Village, thirty-five volumes. From different persons, citizens of the town, and from non-residents, some three hundred volumes, among the last, quite a number are of great interest and value. The names of the donors were recently published in the Reporter and need not be inserted here. Our thanks are due to Mr. C. E. Blanchard for this favor. We also desire to mention a pair of old Colonial brass andirons for the fireplace in the reading room, presented by Mrs. Ella Thurston, of Eaton, brought from England by some of her ancestors, more than a century ago.

We have now about twenty-three hundred books in the town library. Two thousand of these have already been entered upon the accession book, the balance of this work and the catalogning under the card system, is progressing as fast as can be expected. Of these books nearly eight hundred volumes are at the Conway Center library rooms.

Our Cabinet room is becoming quite interesting. The large oak cases were presented by Mrs. A. C. Kennett, made to order to fit the walls of the Cabinet room. For the objects of interest in these cases and about the room, we are much indebted to Mr. T. W. Silloway, of Boston, who is constantly at work in our interest to build up both the Library and Cabinet.

procuri g objects of interest and rare and valuable books.

Our real estate. consisting of the Jenks Memorial building and lot, and the adjoining grounds, intended for a small park, were conveyed to the town on May 9th, 1901. Previous to this the donors had expressed to the trustees their desire to make the building and lands a free gift to the inhabitants of the town, and that such a deed should be drawn under the direction of the trustees containing no restrictions in regard to its management or of the building or of the Library for which it was intended to accommodate, but only such as would prevent the town at any future time from alienating it from the purpose for which it was given, and to keep the building in good repair and sufficiently well insured. Such a deed was made. The town now holds in its corporate capacity this property in trust for its inhabitants, with the above conditions only.

It will be necessary to make some repairs in the basement. owing to defects in the stone work. This will have to be done by digging down outside to the bottom, and cementing, and a light coat of cement over a part of the cement flooring, which has been much injured by water, is much needed, and a little carpenter work, whitewash, etc.

Estimates for appropriations for Library purposes will be submitted on the day of the annual meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

A. C. KENNETT,
A. D. DAVIS,
C. W. WILDER,
J. B. NASH.
